

TEST PREP MATERIALS

UNLV Students & Staff

Online

- The UNLV Libraries provides selected free test preparation materials.
- Visit the UNLV Libraries database page (<http://bit.ly/unlvle>) and log in with your ACE Account to access the LearningExpress Library.

LearningExpress Library

- LearningExpress Library is a full-text test preparation and academic skills-building database that includes practice tests for GMAT, GRE, LSAT, MCAT, CBEST, Praxis, TOEFL, and a number of other standardized job and career tests.
- You will be asked to create your own free account and choose your own user name and password. This creates a space for you on the LearningExpress server so you can save tests and exercises and come back to them.
- To register from a computer at UNLV, simply click the “Sign In/Register” from the upper right side of the blue horizontal navigation bar at the top of any page of the site. Click the “Register” button to register as a new user, verify your institution and enter your information in the required fields, and then click “Register.”
- To register from a computer outside of UNLV’s network (such as from home), you must first register as a New User from the provided link with your ACE Account. Missing this New User step may result in a registration error message.
- For future visits, simply sign in as a Returning User with your email address as your username and the password you created at registration.

Print

- The UNLV Libraries provides a limited selection of test preparation materials for check-out by UNLV Students, Staff, and Alumni.
- Search online (<https://www.library.unlv.edu>) by the name of the test for study guides and practice tests.
- Remember to refine your search results in the right column by clicking on the books link.
- Book check-out requires a local account

Need Help?

- If you are unable to locate the test that you need or other career development resources, please contact Lateka Grays, Career Services Librarian at lateka.grays@unlv.edu.
